

Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking Statement

This statement is made by TrueBlue, Inc. and its subsidiary TMP (UK) Limited (the Company) in accordance with section 54 of the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and sets out the Company's commitment and steps taken toward ensuring that slavery and human trafficking was not taking place in our business and supply chains during the fiscal year ending 30 December 2019.

Our Business

The Company is a leading provider of specialized workforce solutions, helping clients improve growth and performance by providing employer branding, communications, talent advisory, staffing, workforce management, and recruitment process outsourcing solutions.

As an employer branding, talent advisory and recruitment process outsourcing (RPO) provider covering full RPO to Volume Recruitment and Project RPO, we develop, implement and administer assessment and selection processes that support equality, diversity and inclusion and deliver a positive candidate experience at each stage of the selection process. The selection tools developed greatly minimize the risk of slavery and human trafficking within our recruitment processes and business operations.

Our Commitment to Compliance

The Company's Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking Statement guides our business dealings with all clients, customers and suppliers with whom we contract directly or whom we appoint to act on our behalf. We expect our diverse group of clients, customers and suppliers to share in our commitment to opposing slavery and human trafficking in all its forms and operating a system of controls to ensure compliance within our supply chains.

Our Code of Conduct and Policies

All Company employees have an obligation to familiarise themselves with our Code of Business Conduct & Ethics (Code) and the Anti-Human Trafficking and Modern Slavery Policy (Policy). Using the Code and Policy, we strive to create a culture of respect and inclusion, and communicate our strict prohibition against any action comprising or facilitating forced or child labour, human trafficking or modern slavery within our business. These core documents offer strong guidance to our employees and partners to conduct our business according to the highest ethical standards and provide clear mechanisms to report unethical conduct without fear of detriment. The Code and Policy work in conjunction with and complement the Company's Equal Opportunities and Whistleblowing Policies, and the Supplier Code of Conduct, which requires all prospective suppliers to certify their compliance with the Modern Slavery Act 2015.

All employees are required to complete training and certify to the Code annually to build knowledge and maintain accountability. The Policy and the Code are available to all employees through the employee self-service system.

Further Steps

In compliance with our statutory obligation to set out the steps we will take to ensure that modern slavery and human trafficking is not taking place in our supply chains, the Company has introduced and/or will continue seeking to introduce appropriate measures including the following:

1. Conducting risk assessments to determine whether our suppliers have the potential to be exposed to modern slavery and human trafficking violations, so that potential risks are detected and rectified early, and preventative measures are put in place;
2. Communicating our Supplier Code of Conduct to suppliers and seeking positive assurance of agreement therewith;
3. Identifying certain members of the procurement and legal teams to monitor compliance with law, policy and process across the business. The team will be charged with building a risk-tailored due diligence and continuous monitoring programme that is mindful of the fact that we are not in control of each individual's conduct within our network of third-party organisations. The programme will include periodic audits that will assist us in measuring how effective we have been in ensuring that slavery and human trafficking is not taking place in any part of our business or supply chains;
4. Drafting contractual provisions requiring our suppliers to confirm their commitment to the prevention of modern slavery and human trafficking, and ensuring that they flow the terms down to their own network of suppliers, subcontractors and agents.

Overall responsibility for ensuring that the Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking Policy and its implementation comply with our legal and ethical obligations will be with the leadership team. The statement and its application will be reviewed on an annual basis.
